The capabilities of the Compiere ERD system that we are recommending may be viewed at <http://www.compiere.com/products/capabilities/index.php>. In a nutshell, reports are customizable and integrated, third parties may be given access to certain reporting functions, management can monitor and analyze operations as well as control material planning and production scheduling (manufacturing functions), warehouse inbound and outbound operations may be automated, supplier management (including replenishment) are automated, customer relations management (including information, orders, and website accessibility), and includes a website storefront (could replace current website).
