

Well, I'm getting there--slowly... Get my other classes off my back, throw a little in-person tutelage, and I just may achieve mediocrity ;)

Making A Difference for Children with Autism

Who We Are

The Autism Outreach Foundation (AOF) mission is to help low income families receive grants so that their children can receive the therapy that they need. AOF is made up of a small community of volunteers that give up a few days a week to fund-raise and collect donations. This is how we are able to provide so many grants. Without our volunteers and the fact that they give up their time so freely giving, we would have no grants to offer. Most of our volunteers have been impacted by autism in some way or another. Some have children, grandchildren, or are just very close to someone who has been affected by autism.

Why We Help

Research shows that early intervention services can greatly improve a child's development. In order to make sure your child reaches his or her full potential, it is very important to get help for an autistic child as soon as possible. Once your child has been diagnosed with autism, sometimes it can feel like your life changes. We try to provide resources to families so that they can get connected with other families so that they do not feel isolated or alone.

Resources

Autism Outreach Foundation is a great resource for grants. We can also provide the public with general information on support groups in their area and other nonprofits that might be able to help cover their needs if AOF can not help.

Donations

We accept any donation size. However, you may purchase bracelets, water bottles, pens, key lights, and magnets that will help make a difference in the life of another. We are currently accepting generous donations via checks, credit cards and PayPal®.
